4. Scope of Work

Executive Summary

This project introduces AP SMART COPS an AI-powered crime intelligence and policing system aimed at enhancing real-time decision-making, predictive policing, and automated crime analysis. This system integrates Artificial Intelligence (AI), Machine Learning (ML), and Geographic Information Systems (GIS) to create a robust law enforcement ecosystem in Andhra Pradesh. AP SMART COPS is designed to reduce workload, improve data accuracy, increase transparency, and modernize investigation management across India's diverse law enforcement landscape.

The proposed solution should be designed with Government departmental operational realities in mind. It should be scalable, secure, and security compliant, making it fit for deployment in police departments across India. Approach shall be modular allowing for phased roll-out and integration with existing systems, minimizing disruption while modernizing Police workflows.

The proposed AP SMART COPS should transform how police departments manage investigations, evidence, and crime analytics. Through intelligent automation and predictive insights, the platform has to deliver safer communities, empowered officers, and more accountable public safety systems.

The implementation of this project shall be done in four Modules.

On-Prem LLM Strategy

To maintain control over sensitive data and ensure compliance with Police Department, AP SMART COPS requires the deployment of an on-premises Large Language Model (LLM). This setup enables secure, low-latency AI processing across investigative workflows. Proposed AI solution must be deployable entirely on-premises, ensuring that no data—neither raw nor processed—leaves the physical boundaries of the AP Police Department. Architecture should allow full control and auditability by agency IT teams.

The suggested models, infrastructure, security compliance and used cases are detailed below:

- Model Selection:
 - Base LLMs: LLaMA 3, Mistral, Falcon, BLOOM.
 - Language-specific: IndicBERT, HinGPT, aI4Bharat models.

 - Techniques: Supervised learning, RLHF (Reinforcement Learning with Human Feedback).
 - Solution must support secure model finetuning and continual learning using only local, on-premises datasets.
 - Uploads of training data or model checkpoints to external/cloud servers must be strictly disallowed.
 - Provide workflow for controlled, auditable model retraining driven by in-house data science teams, with rollback and approval mechanisms.
- Deployment Infrastructure:
 - Hardware: NVIDIA A100/H100 or AMD MI300X GPU clusters.

 - Frameworks: LangChain or Haystack for chaining AI with Oracle and CCTNS data.
- Security & Compliance:
 - Enforced role-based access control, query scoping via MCP, and audit trails.
 - Comply fully with the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 (DPDP Act), IT Act 2000, and all data localization mandates; no data is to leave India in any form, including encrypted, pseudonymous, or aggregated data.
 - Enforce end-to-end encryption (AES-256 or higher) for data at rest and TLS 1.3+ for data in transit.

- Implement mandatory controls: multi-factor authentication, virtual firewalls, antivirus, granular user access policies, audit logs, real-time event logging, and regular patch management.
- Require annual third-party security audits at vendor's expense and demonstrate readiness for Cert-In compliance/adaptation to evolving Indian security standards.
- Use Cases:
 - Voice-assisted FIR intake
 - Legal provision lookup and compliance guidance
 - Automated generation of notices, charge sheets, and briefs
 - Real-time multilingual support for officers
 - Context-aware chatbot with secure database integration
- Flexible Local Model Switchover
 - System must be modular, enabling rapid switchover between different on-premises LLMs (including open-source, in-house, and future government-approved models) through config changes without requiring extensive redevelopment.
 - Support containerized deployment for easy migration and upgrade of model backends.
- Training
 - Comprehensive training programs must be included for both technical and non-technical personnel of .
 - Training to cover: operational usage, administrative controls, incident response, model interpretability basics, and secure handling of sensitive law enforcement data.
 - Customized materials and hands-on labs with certification for all relevant officers.
- Model Finetuning
 - Solution must support secure model finetuning and continual learning using only local, on-premises datasets.
 - Uploads of training data or model checkpoints to external/cloud servers must be strictly disallowed.
 - Provide workflow for controlled, auditable model retraining driven by in-house data science teams, with rollback and approval mechanisms.
- Resolving Data Bias

- The system must offer built-in diagnostics for identifying and mitigating data and model bias, with support for custom bias assessment scripts relevant to Indian legal and social contexts.
- Require routine bias evaluation on new datasets and provide bias-correction pipelines (reweighting, oversampling, adversarial debiasing, etc.) that are fully auditable by agency staff.
- Automated Digital Forensics Toolkit
 - AI-driven digital forensics suite for evidence triage: rapid parsing of large data volumes from seized devices, video/image artifact detection, automated timeline reconstruction, and anomaly detection on digital trails—all performed locally.
 - Built-in modules for deepfake detection and media authenticity verification, given rising cybercrime sophistication.

Model Context Protocol (MCP) Integration with CCTNS Application and other Police Resources

To ensure seamless, secure, and context-aware AI interactions within the law enforcement system, Model Context Protocol (MCP) is proposed as a standardized integration approach in this project. MCP enables AI models to operate within defined data contexts, ensuring both data security and decision traceability. Model Context Protocol is a structured framework that: Defines data access scope for AI models at runtime, Ensures model queries remain within legal, operational, and ethical boundaries and Links every AI-generated output to its data lineage and user interaction.

- MCP should be Integrated with CCTNS application which built on Oracle and other Police Resources like AP Police Manual, Standard Operating Procedures for Investigation of Various types of Offences.
- For example: When an officer queries a suspect's history using an AI chatbot, MCP ensures the query is tagged with context metadata (jurisdiction, case ID). The AI model processes data only within that context, and the result is stored with a complete audit trail.
- This integration establishes a new standard in safe, contextual AI use within critical public sector infrastructure.
